Dept. of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, National Institute of Justice, 1998 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)39703216 Subject: Assassination -- United States -- Prevention. Excerpt: . . . Protective Intelligence and Threat Assessment Investigations leaders, a number of attacks on State and local elected officials, several murders of Federal and State judges, and several well-publicized attacks on celebrities and business leaders. These attacks do not include many other individuals who presented themselves as warranting serious concern. Each year, Federal, State, and local law enforcement officials and private security officers intercede with thousands of individuals who demonstrate inappropriate or unusual interest in a public official or figure. Some of these individuals were intercepted within lethal range of a target just before they attempted to mount an attack. Although substantial academic literature on assassination exists, little has been written about the thinking and behavior of assail-ants who attempt attacks on prominent persons. For example, how do attackers select their targets What are their motives How do they plan their attacks How do these persons assess the security barriers that face them What communications,...
